BACKGROUND INFORMATION:

Dr. Bandlow is now completing nineteen years as superintendent in New York and New Jersey districts, serving successfully in both urban and suburban communities. He offers deep experience and the kind of professional and personal judgment that only comes from leading school districts through crises and challenges of all kinds, over time. Dr. Bandlow's strength as an instructional leader is demonstrated by his accomplishments in raising student achievement. His strength in managing a budget and maintaining fiscal integrity has been shown by his experience in reducing budgets without denying school children valuable and productive programs and services. His strength in community and parent involvement has been demonstrated by a commitment to service, effective communication with constituents, and involving community members in all significant studies. Throughout his career, he has demonstrated the ability to take on difficult situations, make hard but necessary decisions, and practice school district leadership with integrity.
